

World Court Is Made A Reality

John Bassett Moore Is Chosen by Assembly on Second Ballot.

U. S. WILL KEEP HANDS OFF

Harding May Devise Plan to Enter Court Under "Association of Nations."

By United Press Leased Wire. Geneva.—The world's fifty year dream of an international court of justice became a reality Wednesday when the league of nations elected eleven judges and four deputies to the world court.

John Bassett Moore of the United States, member of the permanent court at the Hague, was elected by the assembly on the second ballot this afternoon. On the first ballot nine judges were chosen.

There was the keenest political "fog rolling" for the positions, the South American countries being strong in numbers and holding the balance of power in many instances.

League delegates Wednesday declared the establishment of the international court of justice to be far and away the most important undertaking of the league of nations.

On the first ballot Wednesday Ethu Root received the vote of six nations. John Bassett Moore received 12 votes on the first ballot, Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of the Harvard law school, 6, and Sir Robert Borden former premier of Canada, 12 votes.

The council and the assembly of the league voted separately.

Dr. Max Huber of Switzerland was elected a justice of the court on the fifth ballot. Dr. Huber is legal adviser of the Swiss foreign office and professor at law at the University of Zurich.

The council of the league of nations, which voted separately from the assembly, Wednesday confirmed the election of Dr. Max Huber, Viscount Finlay, Dr. Weiss, Dr. Oda, Signor Anzilotti and Judge Didrik Myholm of Denmark to the international court of justice.

Judge Myholm was elected by the assembly this afternoon.

New York.—John Bassett Moore, when informed of his election to the international court of justice by the assembly of the league of nations Wednesday, said he felt it was a great honor, but declined to comment further.

Washington, D. C.—The election of John Bassett Moore, distinguished American authority on international law, as a member of the international court of justice, the world court provided by the league of nations was received with deep interest and approval in official circles here.

Moore's election, however, will not change the "hands off" attitude of this government, it was believed. While the United States has been invited to become a member of the world court, neither President Harding or Secretary Hughes has replied to the invitation.

The attitude of the United States government under the Harding administration, has never been definitely announced, but it has been predicted that President Harding may bring the United States into the court as part of a plan to form an "association of nations."

The person that this government never replied to the invitation to enter the world court is understood to be that the invitation was forwarded by the league of nations and the Harding administration has had no communication with the league.

Hughes explained that the United States could not enter the world court or any other such body except by a treaty duly ratified by the American senate.

DENIES FARMERS' CONCERN FAILED

One Hundred Million Dollar Grain Corporation Still Doing Business.

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—Emphatic denial of the reported failure of the Farmers' Finance corporation, a $100,000,000 concern, subsidiary to the United States Grain Growers, Inc., was made here Wednesday by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation.

Stories, widely circulated, declaring the finance corporation "went to the wall" were "based on misinformation," President Howard said.

The reports, Mr. Howard believed, originated in the action of representatives of the farm bureaus of the mid-west group in holding up the sale of stock of the finance corporation pending a decision to have the organization handle financing of all farm products, instead of grain alone.

Harding relaxes at Seaside golf links.

New York.—President Harding put in his second successive day at golf on a Long Island course Wednesday. Participating in a foursome, he started play over the National Golf links after luncheon, served at the clubhouse, he was expected to play another round over the Shinnecock Golf club course, adjoining.

BOY CRIMINAL

CARL AUSMUS (below)

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—Three youths were expected to be indicted Wednesday for the alleged murder of Carl Ausmus and Bernard J. Daugherty, Packard Motor Car company salesmen.

Two of the boys implicated in the crime in which the two salesmen were beaten to death after which their throats were slashed with a razor, have confessed they are Harvey Church, in whose basement the men were slain, and Leo Parks, an auto mechanic. The confession of the two involved Clarence Wilder, who was arrested early Wednesday. Church and Parks stated they killed the salesmen to obtain a $5,400 Packard de Luxe auto which they expected to sell.

GIVES HIMSELF UP TO CHICAGO POLICE

Milton Walker, Wanted in Handcuff Murder Case, Decides to Surrender.

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—Clarence Wilder, under arrest in connection with the murder of Carl Ausmus and Bernard J. Daugherty is believed innocent. Ben Newmark, investigator for the state's attorney's office announced Wednesday.

Newmark believed that Harvey Church and Leo Parks, whose confessions named Wilder as an accomplice, made their statement to shield the third member of the gang.

Milton Walker, wanted by the state's attorney's office in connection with the murder of Bernard Daugherty and Carl Ausmus, Packard auto salesman, gave himself up late Wednesday.

The alibi of Clarence Wilder who is named in the confessions of Harvey Church and Leo Parks as an accomplice, was punctured, authorities stated, when it was learned from Wilder's employer that he was permitted to quit work on the afternoon of the murder.

Wilder had stated police said, he was working during the time the two salesmen were being brutally slain for their $5,400 Packard de Luxe car.

IRISH ACCEPT BID TO PARLEY WITH BRITISH

Conference to Attempt Reconciliation Is Scheduled for Next Tuesday.

DELEGATION IS NAMED

Announcement Expected From British Government Withheld From Public.

By United Press Leased Wire. Dublin.—The Irish parliament has unanimously approved the reply to Lloyd George's invitation to a peace conference at Inverness September 20. "With a view to a possible conference" it has selected delegates it was officially announced Wednesday. The delegates are Arthur Griffith, chairman, Michael Collins, Barton, Duggan and Duffy.

The envoys sent to confer with Lloyd George at Inverness and who were reported to have been sent back to ask if their communication was Sinn Fein's final word, will report to the Dail tomorrow.

It was believed doubtful here that the conference with the British cabinet committee could be held on Tuesday next as originally planned.

London.—Mystery surrounding the Irish situation deepened Wednesday when the British government, after announcing that a communication from the Dail Eireann would be made public at 7 p. m. suddenly changed its plans and announced the note would not be given out tonight.

A dispatch from Dublin indicated that the communication in question is the reply of the Dail to Premier Lloyd George's invitation to further conferences beginning at Inverness September 20. The Dublin dispatch said the Sinn Fein parliament had unanimously approved the reply and appointed a delegation headed by Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein foreign minister.

The Dail was known to be meeting in secret in Dublin. The couriers had not returned from Scotland when the Downing street statement was issued and it was not known how the Irish reply could have been formulated without the answer they brought from the British premier.

In one quarter it was suggested that they had handed Lloyd George what virtually constituted the Dail's reply.

It was widely reported Wednesday that the Sinn Fein in a note taken to Griffith by Harry Boland and Joseph McGuire, attempted to stipulate that Ireland should enter the Inverness conference having the status of a sovereign state.

Lloyd George was so dissatisfied with this that he sent the couriers back to obtain a better reply.

Owing to the action of the British premier the conference may still be held, it was said.

SLAYER OF THREE COMMITS SUICIDE

Criminal Suspect Shoots Self in Lonely Shack When Surrounded.

By United Press Leased Wire. Hibbing, Minn.—John Webb sought for the murder of three Hibbing police officials last week, committed suicide early Wednesday when surrounded by a posse.

Five officers who trailed Webb to a shack in the woods three miles from Hibbing, heard a shot when they were still 100 yards from the shack. They found Webb's body, still warm, in the corner of the shack.

Webb had been sought by thousands during the last week. Governor Pross had ordered out the Hibbing National guard unit and forest rangers to aid in the search.

Webb shot and killed Chief of Police Hayes, Chief of Detectives Cassidy and Traffic Officer Kohrt when they attempted to arrest him at his home on a warrant charging Webb with criminally assaulting his 13 year old daughter Alice.

The five officers who found Webb's body were Landberg, Johnson, Moore, Muntell, and Cunniff.

They placed Webb's body on the running board of their automobile and brought it here. Huge crowds viewed the body at the police station.

The suicide occurred at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

Will Ask U. S. To Build Roads To Help Jobless

By United Press Leased Wire. St. Paul, Minn.—A movement to obtain a double appropriation of highway aid from congress, as a means of helping to relieve the unemployment situation, was started Wednesday by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner.

Highway legislation is expected to receive immediate attention upon reconvening of congress. Pending proposals call for a 25 per cent reduction in federal highway aid. This proposal was considered in congress despite an appeal by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce for continuation of highway aid through the fall and winter to furnish additional employment for men with families.

Commissioner Babcock urged that civic and farm organizations, public officials and individual citizens petition their congressmen for an increased highway aid appropriation as a step to help relieve unemployment during the fall and winter.

Graveling and other highway operations can be carried on in fall and winter as well, if not better, than in the spring or summer, Commissioner Babcock said.

Similar appeals are being made by highway executives in other states, according to the highway department.

Eve's Fig Leaf Had The Style Faddist Says

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago, Ill.—The official O. K. on the fig leaf worn by Eve was given Wednesday by Carl N. Wernitz director of the Academy of Fine Arts.

"Fashions do not rule as much as do individual tastes and the lines of individual figures," Wernitz told the Fishmen Art League in session here.

"Eve in selecting her first gown chose the fig leaf for its lines of character, symmetry and beauty."

"The fig leaf is what we artists call a good two and three proportion—in other words it has good lines."

"Some fashions that have been evolved since the fig leaf have not been nearly so beautiful and artistic."

MOTIVE OF JAPS IN SHANTUNG PARLEY HOLDS U. S. BACK

This Nation Could Diplomatically Push Issue to Final Adjustment.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co. Washington.—The United States government is taking a deep interest in the negotiations between China and Japan over the Shantung question. There is even a chance that the good offices of this government or at any rate, its influence will be exerted to bring about a settlement though it is not yet clear whether the instance taken by the Japanese was for the purpose of beginning a parley that would merge into the larger conference at Washington in November or whether it was an effort to put the Chinese in the position before the world of refusing a settlement.

Japan has professed her anxiety on many occasions to reach a settlement with China, but the latter, having refused to sign the Versailles treaty declines to enter into negotiations which have as their basis a confirmation of the action of the Paris peace conference in awarding Japan certain rights in Shantung. The United States did not favor the Shantung settlement in the Versailles conference and the Harding administration having failed to ratify the Versailles peace treaty to ratify its influence for a free interchange of the Washington conference between China and Japan on a disinterested and unprejudiced basis.

The larger aspects of the move on the part of Japan in formally proposing at this time a settlement with China have appealed to the Washington authorities. It is the most significant step that has been taken since President Harding issued his invitation for a discussion of Far Eastern questions in connection with disarmament. The Chinese are quite ready to assume that Japan would prefer a specific provision that the settlement be made to the tax payers, which will be made to the tax payers, which will be made to the tax payers.

The Japanese accepted America's invitation to a conference with specific provision that "accomplished facts" would not be discussed. This was generally taken to mean that Japan would not permit the Shantung issue to come before the other powers. Now, however, her negotiations with China have reopened the question and there is good reason to believe that Japan realized the futility of trying to exclude the Shantung controversy from the Washington conference when she herself had made no progress toward a direct settlement with China.

N. Y. C. RAILROAD ASKS HUGE ISSUE OF BONDS

Washington, D. C.—The New York Central railroad filed application with the interstate commerce commission Wednesday for the issuance of $19,000,000 in securities refunding an improvement fund at the rate of 6 per cent a year.

It is proposed to use the bonds by placing them with the director general of railroads in place of the promissory notes he now holds. The money was advanced for equipment purchases.

Moderate Earner Will Benefit By Tax Change

Proposed Abolishment of Excess Profits Tax Expected to Release Business and Start Trend Toward Prosperity.

By L. C. Martin. Washington, D. C.—Promises of more effective tax reduction in 1923 will be made to the tax payers, which will be made to the tax payers, which will be made to the tax payers.

The exact extent to which the war taxes will remain is not yet certain. The finance committee today is to decide what proportion of the war tax on railroad freight and passenger rates will be kept.

Certain other war taxes also are being "held in reserve" by the committee to be used only if it is found necessary in raising the $3,200,000,000 required. But it appears certain taxes on tobacco, candy and similar articles will remain. Automobiles will continue to bear the war tax as will movie and theatre tickets and many articles of wearing apparel.

However, the program worked out is not as drastic as that proposed to congress by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who suggested such measures as increased postal rates to make certain of enough revenue.

The $190,000,000 reduction accomplished by the bill in its present form represents $250,000,000 relief to business, senators said. This is accomplished by repealing the excess profits and capital stock taxes and substituting them for an increased corporation income tax. The cutting off of $250,000,000 taxes from business made necessary increases in general taxation on the public of about $60,000,000 to keep the total revenue up to the sum required.

The greatest relief to the great mass of taxpayers lies in reduction of income taxes to be paid by heads of families whose incomes are $5,000 or less. A man with two children and an income under $5,000 will pay taxes on $900 less next year than this year, if the bill goes through as it now stands. This means $38 in taxes, or about $3 a month reduction. Republican leaders count on this provision and the repeal of the excess profits tax on business to win the bill wide public support.

This action was taken by the committee so as not to interfere with murder trials growing out of the mine war which are now in progress.

JURY READY TO TELL CAUSE OF ACTRESS' FATE

Witnesses in Arbuckle Murder Case Are Accused of Juggling Testimony.

MANY VIEW GIRL'S BODY

District Attorney Withholds Formal Charge Until Coroner Jury Reports.

By M. D. Tracy. San Francisco, Calif.—The coroner's jury which has been sitting for two days in the Rappe Arbuckle murder case retired at 12:05 p. m. Wednesday to render a verdict.

The jury's verdict is expected to be the determining factor in the decision of the district attorney as to whether Roscoe Arbuckle is to stand trial for first degree murder or manslaughter.

San Francisco, Calif.—"One of the girl witnesses in the Arbuckle case has admitted to me that she was approached by friends of Arbuckle with regard to her testimony. Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson declared Wednesday.

Matheson refused to say who the witness was or to give any details.

"To do so would endanger a possible arrest," he explained.

Matheson said he feared trying Arbuckle for manslaughter instead of for first degree murder.

Witness Absent. Opening of the inquest was delayed by the absence of Miss Zey Prevon, the witness who gave startling testimony before the grand jury Tuesday night and who was expected to furnish the sensation of today's inquest session.

Arbuckle came into court dressed in his blue Norfolk suit accompanied by his attorneys and guard. He was more cheerful than at any time since his arrest. His attorneys expressed themselves as being confident, reiterating their assertion of last night that "our case is won."

If the coroner's jury finds that the life of Miss Virginia Rappe was taken in the wilful commission of a felony—that she was "ordered"—then the district attorney probably will insist upon prosecution. Arbuckle on the murder charge sworn to two days ago by Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont, "the avenger."

If the jury returns an "open verdict" leaving a doubt as to the exact causes of death or if it finds death was from a natural cause or includes any action tending to exonerate the comedian, then the district attorney's office probably will prosecute on the indictment for manslaughter returned by the grand jury early Wednesday.

Arbuckle was indicted by the San Francisco grand jury early Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter. The district attorney's charge originally filed against the movie comedian is expected to result from this indictment on a lesser charge. His attorneys are prepared to attempt to secure his release on bail.

Miss Blake Located. Brady has succeeded in locating Miss Alice Blake, one of his star witnesses whom he said had "disappeared."

He also had a long conversation with Miss Zey Prevon, beautiful show girl, who at first appearance before the grand jury implicated her charges against Arbuckle.

Miss Prevon informed Brady that she had changed her mind again and that she would stick to her original story and sign her original affidavit, which charges she saw Arbuckle drag Miss Rappe into his room and heard her screams. She said her refusal to give this testimony when called before the grand jury was due to nervous breakdown and the long strain.

Arbuckle's lawyers were jubilant at the close of the coroner's inquest session Tuesday.

Two nurses who attended Miss Rappe testified she told them she had been suffering for six weeks from a serious ailment. They also declared Miss Rappe herself did not remember whether Arbuckle had assaulted her.

Mrs. Delmont Talks. Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont who swore to the murder complaint against Arbuckle and has been most active in assisting the prosecution, said she became overheated from dancing and that she went into the room of Lowell Sherman, one of the movie actors present and donned a suit of pajamas.

She failed to make the charge that Arbuckle dragged Miss Rappe into his bedroom.

The body of Miss Rappe lay today in a handsome casket at an undertaker's establishment awaiting the coroner's permission for burial.

Mary Visit Body. People mostly women and girls, passed the coffin at the rate of 100 an hour. Some stopped a moment to pray. Others left flowers.

Miss Prevon and Alice Blake both testified at the grand jury session which resulted in Arbuckle's indictment. They described the Arbuckle Party.

Mrs. Grace Hubbard, a surgical nurse at Wakefield sanitarium where Miss Rappe died, testified that Miss Rappe was not suffering from any serious ailment which might have caused her death even if she had never gone to the party.

FOUNTAIN AND FOX RIVER DO SERVICE IN CLASS BATTLES

Army of Lawrence Freshmen Is Subdued by Sophomores
in Initial Hazings.

A hard and fast, free for all fight between sophomores and freshmen of Lawrence college took place on the front porch of Brook hall at about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Three sophomores, including Floyd Friday, Markes, Ray Weiler, Chippewa Falls and one other whose name could not be learned, were first to take the customary cold plunge in the fountain at City park.

The traditional antagonism between the two classes began to rise when the freshmen were notified to "don the green" on Tuesday. The usual tiny green lids with the often pressed white button began to appear on the heads of the recent year men. At 7 o'clock, the freshmen gathered in front of the dormitories to collect the girls for their first class demonstration. After yells and a snake dance, the boys took the girls back to the dormitories and then began the scrap in earnest.

At nearly 10 o'clock, no sophomores had been located although the freshmen made the rounds of the streets. A car had been driving through the freshmen gang and aroused the anger of the newcomers, who discovered that the three sophomores who took the first bath were in the car.

Besides the main gathering on the steps of Brook hall, there were isolated skirmishes which resulted in badly torn clothing, blackened eyes and sore bodies. About 100 year men were out and finally about 75 sophomores were collected. The sophomores had a year of teamwork and class spirit behind them are said to have outlasted the yearlings. A half dozen or more freshmen had been dumped unceremoniously in the city fountain when police put an end to the public bathing. Perhaps a dozen or more were then put in the river.

According to a sophomore who was in the scrap, the freshmen although outnumbering the older men were ready to give up shortly before midnight. The freshmen claim, however, that they merely stopped for one day and that they are not defeated nor broken in spirit. The class meeting at which temporary officers are elected will take place on Wednesday, after which more excitement is expected.

Several pedestrians watching the scrap were thought roughly; one young business man was cut by a freshman who thought him to be an upperclassman. A small group of the new class, already feeling a mystic something binding them together as "Twenty-Five," sought to avenge themselves on the cars which had been driving through their ranks by throwing eggs at them. The fire hose in Brook hall as well as the shower baths made good substitutes for the city fountain.

TO REWARD SCOUTS FOR CAMP RECORD

Dinner and Theater Party Will Be Tendered Leaders at Camp Onaway.

Two groups of Appleton Boy Scouts are to be honored by the scout council because of their fine records while in camp at Onaway Island, Chain O' Lakes, this summer, according to plans made at Monday night's meeting of the council.

Boys of tent No. 10 which took second place will be given a theater party to the movies. Robert Harbeck was the leader of this tent and other members are Kenneth Schwager, Robert Ashman, Joseph Keller, Joseph Krieger, George Mignon and Alexander Jacobson.

Purchase of satisfactory honoraria for deserving scouts was authorized by vote of the council. Scouts in camp were classed "satisfactory" if they did well what was required of them. If they did a little better than actual requirements they were placed in the "honorary" class. It is to these boys that pins are to be given.

Camp "O's" are to be purchased for boys who passed five classes of tests satisfactory camper, representing camp athletics, performing satisfactory campfire stunts and passing six scouting tests or winning four merit badges.

The report read to the council by Scout executive Howard Burk in regard to camp finances showed that the summer camp was practically self supporting. The camp committee had only to contribute $50 as against $200 which they had originally planned and expected to pay. Besides that each boy was saved $5 because his transportation and extras were taken care of by the camp management.

WOMEN SEEK HOMES FOR DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

Housing Committee of Appleton Womens Club Is Ready to List Hostesses.

Twenty-six members of the housing committee for the Federation of Womens club meeting here Oct. 12-14 left housecleaning, school sewing and other important tasks to attend the meeting at 3 o'clock Monday in the Womens club rooms. Mrs. G. M. Schumaker, chairman of the committee, called the group together to make all preparations for housing the delegates from other cities with Appleton women as their guests.

Some of the club members have been reticent about asking to have guests because they feel that their homes are not as modern and up-to-date as others may be. Appleton club women who have attended many fed-

Few Girls Enter Portals Of Nursing Profession

Handsomely Paid Vocation Has Too Many Requirements for Most Girls.

The shortage of nurses which is affecting the whole United States has become acute in this community according to the testimony of a number of the local physicians who believe that in case of an epidemic the situation would become very serious.

"We need half again as many nurses as are available," said Dr. George N. Pratt. "We have a list of 25 or so and we consider ourselves lucky if out of the whole list we can secure one. Sometime ago we wanted three nurses and couldn't get one in the city. We called the surrounding cities and finally got them from Milwaukee and Fond du Lac."

According to Dr. Pratt, ten times as many people demand private nurses as formerly and the demand will be increasing constantly. While a few years ago a nurse used to get $25 a week and worked about three weeks out of four, she can command $50 a week now and be busy both night and day all the time.

The entrance requirements have been increased to accept only high school graduates. This has discouraged many girls from entering the profession who might become splendid nurses. At the same time the difference in ability between a high school graduate who finishes her nurses training and a sophomore in high school who takes the course is considered nil.

In Illinois they are considering establishing courses for "junior nurses" with fewer requirements and with less time for the completion of the course. The "junior nurses" would be capable of taking care of many of the cases generally handled by the registered nurse.

Many nurses who finish the 3-year training course are scarcely out of the training before they embark on the sea of matrimony according to Dr. I. B. McLaren who attributes the shortage of nurses largely to this fact. It was learned at the Red Cross center that there is a movement on foot to combine nurses training with courses at the universities, enabling the students to take the theoretical work at the universities with the practical training in the hospitals. Some of the large hospitals which are feeling the shortage of nurses most keenly have had to resort to employing graduate nurses to do the work done formerly by the student nurses.

One of the reasons for the lack of nurses was given as the greater opportunities for girls in the business world. A young woman may take a six months business training and then step right into an office with a fairly good salary while her sister in the nurses training school must spend three years of her life working hard and studying with practically no compensation until she graduates. The hours in the training school are long, many of the students working until 7 o'clock at night after which they have to prepare their lessons for the next day. They have one-half day on Sunday and one-half day during the week.

During the war when the training was very popular due to the possibilities of going abroad, a class of 100 students commenced training, only 49 of whom completed the course. The percentage would be much less now that the possibility of travel has decreased to such a great degree.

"One of the saddest things about the profession of nursing is that a graduate nurse has no protection by law against unscrupulous or fraudulent women who pose as nurses or 'practical' nurses," said one of the physicians. "These impostors in many cases demand as high wages as the girl who has gone through the intensive 3-year training. This fact tends to take away the incentive for the girl in training."

"A high school education or its equivalent is required by practically all of the leading training schools. Some have tried to dodge it by giving high school work in connection with the nurse's training."

"Hospitals are being standardized and we are looking forward to the time when the nurse profession will be well protected against impostors. The doctors have taken the hospitals under their protective wings and now they must take the nurses."

"While a high school education is desirable, I don't believe it is necessary in the training of an efficient nurse. I have found that the most reliable nurses come from the rural districts."

Miss Wenonah Winsley who is in training at Cook County hospital, Chicago where there are between two and three hundred student nurses said the superintendent of the hospital tells them that while a business education may be acquired in a short period of time and ambitious students may secure positions with fairly good wages, they can not go beyond a certain point, while there is practically no limit to the possibilities for an ambitious graduate nurse. Good health and ambition are necessary for the student.

"Nursing as a profession has not been boomed in recent years," said the Rev. W. A. Newing, field secretary for the Wisconsin Deaconess hospital in Green Bay. "It is just beginning to be held up as an opportunity for life service. At present we have 30 student nurses and 5 graduate nurses in the Deaconess hospital. Some are entering constantly. Although we have felt the shortage we have all the students we can take care of at present."

HERE IS A CHANCE TO BOOST STATE

Chamber of Commerce Wants Ten Good Selling Points About Wisconsin.

If you were "selling" Wisconsin what would be your ten talking points.

Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce wants to know in order that he may forward your ideas to the Milwaukee Association of Commerce which is conducting a campaign throughout the state to learn just what Wisconsin's strong points are.

The following letter received by Mr. Corbett from Walter F. Dunlap, chairman of the Advertising Wisconsin committee of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce explains the reasons for the campaign: "Sometime in June of next year, this state will have as guests some ten thousand people. They are coming to attend the International convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. Among them will be representatives of every big magazine and newspaper published."

"Most of these people are utterly ignorant as to the many advantages of this good old state of ours. This is a condition I want your help and suggestions in remedying."

"When these delegates leave Milwaukee next year, what impressions of our state should they carry away? How can we best give these impressions? What in your mind are the ten leading facts we should drive home?"

M. Corbett invites contributions of ideas from people in Appleton or anywhere in the country. If you have ten suggestions he wants them and if you have only one suggestion he wants that. It might be that you see some good feature of the state which others overlook. Suggestions may be addressed to Secretary Hugh G. Corbett, Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

He had difficulty in locating the site which has been replaced with business blocks and is now in the heart of the business district. Mr. Wayland said when a lad 65 years ago he rolled hoops down the main thoroughfare of the city and that none of his neighbors ever dreamed of the city expanding to their homes.

"Y" LEADERS PLAN FOR MEMBER DRIVE

Officers of Local Association Are Attending Conference at Madison.

Membership Secretary A. L. Boynton, physical Director R. H. Starkey and Office Secretary O. B. Pratt of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. left for Madison Tuesday morning to attend the state conference of employed officers of the Y. M. C. A. which is to be held there this week.

At this meeting plans will be made for the fall and winter program and matters pertaining to the annual membership campaign also will be discussed. Tentative dates set for the annual membership campaign here are Oct. 4, 5, and 6. The campaign will be opened with a banquet the night of Oct. 3. The goal set is the same as last year namely, 1,000 men and 400 boys.

The campaign will be directed by Mr. Boynton, and will be conducted similar to last year's drive. Any person joining the Y. M. C. A. here now will get the remainder of September free. The management is giving one-day passes to all new students in the city and also will give them to resident men and boys upon request. The purpose of the one-day pass is to enable men and boys to see the work that is being done and give them an opportunity to decide whether to join.

"Most of these people are utterly ignorant as to the many advantages of this good old state of ours. This is a condition I want your help and suggestions in remedying."

Grain Crop Is One-Third Of Normal Yield

Nio Kolsen of Medina, who has been threshing grain regularly each fall for the last 26 years and is one of the oldest threshermen in point of service in the county, has completed this season's campaign of 36 days. He said the crop this year did not exceed one-third of the normal yield and that where he formerly threshed 2,000 bushels of grain for a farmer he threshed 600 bushels this year. He intends to start hulling clover at once and said the yield of clover will be much better than that of grain.

THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

The success of President Harding's disarmament conference depends very largely on the attitude and temper of the American government. That ought to be clear enough, and yet there are many people who do not realize it, and who have not yet awakened to the greatness of the opportunity and the weightiness of the responsibility that rests on America. If our delegates carry into the conference a haughty spirit, if their minds are poisoned
by suspicion and controlled by fear, and if they are so narrowly and selfishly "practical" as to be blind to the great vision of world cooperation in the interest of peace
and civilization, then little will be accomplished.

While perhaps it will do no harm to warn people against the danger of expecting too much, it is nevertheless well that they should expect much and demand
much. The president made a serious mistake in selecting Senator Lodge as one of the American representatives, but we suppose that it is now too late to correct it.
The choice is a mistake for two reasons—
because Henry Cabot Lodge as an individual is not qualified for the place, and second because no senator ought to be appointed. Mr. Lodge is ruled out by his own record in foreign affairs; while the reasons for excluding senators were convincingly given by Senator Hoar more than twenty years ago.

But as the president is in earnest, and no one doubts that he is, he will be able to exert a powerful influence toward making the conference a success. The people are deeply interested, as well they may be.
Perhaps the greatest obstacles to the restoration of healthily normal conditions
are high taxes, made necessary by vast governmental costs, which again are the result of the need for providing for national defense. There is practically no chance of reducing expenditures until we are prepared to slash army and navy appropriations. And unless expenditures of all countries are reduced there will be world bankruptcy. There will also be war as the result of the very efforts to prepare for them, and another great war
in the next few years might very easily
issue in the overthrow of civilization.

The responsibility of this nation is specially great because it is within its power
to impose a cruel burden on humanity or to save humanity therefrom. Better than any other nation America can afford to spend money on armies and navies—no other power can compete with it. If we force competition we shall play a part in the ruin of other peoples. If on the other hand we lead the way in disarmament we shall strengthen the tendency toward peace, release stores of energy and capital for productive uses, free humanity
from fear and anxiety (and also from taxes), and give the world a great lift
on the road that leads to salvation.

TAXES AND NEEDS

Congress, it must be presumed, desires
to raise enough money to meet the government's needs, and to do it in such a way
as to be as fair and just as possible to all.
That the bill recently passed by the house
meets neither of these requirements is now generally admitted. There has been a steadily growing deficit for the present fiscal year, and a great decrease in the amount received from taxes. For the first two months of the present fiscal year—
July and August—expenditures exceeded receipts by $147,408,529, as against a shortage for the same months last year of only $108,467,231. Tax receipts for the same months fell from $558,024,948
to $443,696,786. That is a rather difficult, not to say serious situation. It is believed that the reduction in revenue, on the basis of the showing for the first two months of the year, will be in excess of the $812,000,000 which was the reduction
for the year ending with last June.

The heaviest losses have, of course, been

in excess profits and income taxes, and
the greatest losses were in the high taxes
on the big incomes. The New York Evening Post says:
In 1916, 1,286 persons reported taxable incomes
in excess of $500,000, whereas in 1918 the number had fallen to 627. What actually happened in this period was not the dwindling of large incomes, but the flight of their recipients into the haven of tax-exempt securities. The present sur-taxes attaining a maximum rate of 65 per cent
are thus defeating their own end by depriving
the government of the revenues which it sorely
needs and by diverting the liquid capital needed
by industry into nonproductive fields.

In other words, we are under the present law untaxing the rich, leaving those who are not rich to carry the load. And the government's income is steadily and swiftly declining. The house saw fit to disregard the advice of Secretary Mellon,
who thought that the best policy was to meet the situation in a businesslike way.
The senate seems more disposed to give
some consideration to the secretary's views.

Mr. Mellon told the senate finance committee last week that he adhered to the figures which he had given to the ways and means committee last month. He estimated the expenditures of all sorts at $4-034,000,000; the tariff and certain non-tax sources would, he thought, yield $500,000,000, leaving $3,534,000,000 to be raised by the bill now in progress of formulation. The house bill, with the amendments suggested by the secretary,
would, he thought, yield a little in excess of that amount. If the tariff is anything like the Fordney tariff it will not bring in $800,000,000 or anything approaching it. For it will be an absolute embargo on some goods, and goods that do not come in pay no duties.

It should be said that in Mr. Mellon's estimate of expenditures are included the various reductions by the departments as agreed to at the White House conference on August 9, the secretary saying that he had no doubt these cuts would be made.
Perhaps so and perhaps not. If the disarmament conference accomplishes anything, great reductions will be possible.
Even Mr. Mellon is taking some chances in counting on the promised cuts as being
as good as made, and on $800,000,000
from the tariff. He would make the repeal of the excess profits tax retroactive
till last January; retain one-half the transportation tax till January, 1923; impose a manufacturers' tax on cosmetics and proprietary medicines; make the income tax
on corporations 15 per cent instead of 12½ per cent as proposed by the house,
eliminate all income surtaxes in excess of 25 per cent instead of the house's maximum of 32 per cent.

EXPLAIN SITUATION TO THE PEOPLE

Erroneous ideas are widely prevalent
concerning the general commercial depression. Ninety per cent or more of the host of idle men and women believe that the unemployment is a contrivance of the moneyed interests to enslave the working class. This fancy is inflated to rancor
by forces which are conscientious only about catering to public opinion, whether opinion is right or wrong.

The average man connects the three and a half billion dollars in gold which has flowed into the United States with the four or five million of unemployed. He cannot understand why the money is not put to use, and because it is not he is disposed to conclude that there is malicious intent on the part of capital to oppress the people.

Washington should attempt to explain
the situation fully and clearly to the public. It should try to illustrate convincingly that a reactionary situation exists, and that revival of commerce depends on the completion of the contraction of credit and the liquidation of costs and prices. Frank explanation is needed.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Bralley
READING.
Whenever I employ myself
In reading books and such,
I certainly enjoy myself;
Yes, very, very much.
From books of every quality
I garner fun enough.
From those of sheer frivolity
Of those of sterner stuff.
But I shall never cease again
That magic thrill, indeed,
Nor know the bliss intense again
That came when mother's read
Of great huge and wonderful
And princesses and kings,
And princes brave and wonderful,
And fairy queens with wings!
Amid the books I'm treasuring
I love to loaf and browse,
But in that gentle pleasuring
I never can arouse
That joy in grim or merry tales
Which once I used to know.
In listening to fairy tales
Some thirty years ago!

CANCER OF THE STOMACH.

Little has been added to the treatment of cancer
from about the time of Christ, according to Dr.
Charles H. Mayo, until the recent development of surgery, therapy, endocrine (ductless gland) treatment,
X-ray treatment and radium emanations.
"From what has been accomplished in the brief
period of their use," remarks Dr. Mayo, "I predict the possibility of surgery becoming an adjunct to these methods—especially to radium treatment—instead of the major method of treatment."
But there can be no misunderstanding—the important or major method of treatment for stomach
cancer is operation.

In 1915 Dr. J. Mayo called attention to the probable influence of hot foods and drinks taken as civilization developed, a change from the natural
food intake of primitive people, the degree of heat
often being greater than the tender epithelium lining
the stomach can bear.
Often patients apply at the Mayo clinic for a general examination because of loss of appetite, loss
of weight and strength with increase in pallor, and
we are found to have extensive cancer of the stomach without distress or appreciable bleeding. In 1923 cases in which a diagnosis of cancer of the stomach was made, in 1919 and 1920, the conditions were considered far advanced for operation in slightly over half the cases.

Any one of 49 or older who begins to have "stomach trouble" or "dyspepsia" of some kind, which
fails to respond to the ordinary medical and dietetic
treatment, associated with loss of weight and increasing weakness, must bear in mind the possibility of cancer as the cause. Other causes may account for such impairment of health, such as chronic nephritis (Bright's disease), diabetes, tuberculosis,
or syphilis, but cancer is a very common disease
and no family is immune to it.

Certain popular ideas concerning cancer of the stomach are rather misleading. Although tenderness or a lump or a hardened place may be felt by the examiner and the patient may find evidence of fresh blood or of old blood ("coffee grounds") in material vomited, these signs occur rather late in the disease.

Dr. Mayo comments on the frequency of cancer developing in the side of an old stomach ulcer. The patient may have had the gastric ulcer or ulcers for several years, and then experience some of the suggestive symptoms above mentioned. This is in line with what we know of the exciting factors of cancer in various situations. Cancer of the tongue from burns of smoking or from the irritation of broken teeth; cancer of the skin from some prolonged slight irritation; cancer of the neck of the womb in mothers of several children; cancer of the breast among women; prolonged slight irritation
seems to arouse the anarchy of cell life which constitutes cancerous degeneration.

By the time a man or woman is 40 or more he or she ought to know enough not to trifle with a case of alleged "stomach trouble."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Corns Are Not Bunions.

Please give the recipe for curing corns and bunions
that you published some time ago. (A. M. S.) Answer—A bunion is not a corn grown up. A bunion is a partly dislocated great toe joint, perhaps covered by an inflamed or infected bursa (sac).
Operation is the only cure for established bunions.
This was the formula I printed for corns:
Salicylic acid, 30 grains.
Flexible collodion, ½ ounce.
Keep tightly corked or it will thicken. Paint the corn every night for a week or more, when it will soften and easily come away.

Poor Circulation.

Please advise me the symptoms of poor circulation. (A. P. T.)
Answer—I do not suggest symptoms.

In your department I found a formula for liquid
for excessive perspiration in the armpits. I used it and found it very good. I have mislaid the formula.
Please repeat it and oblige. (V. M. D.)

Answer—Aluminum chloride, ½ ounce. Distilled water, 3 ounces. Mop the armpits with the liquid on a brush or cotton, and allow to dry before dressing. Use this daily or alternate days for three or four times, as needed.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Wednesday, Sept. 16, 1896.

F. R. Dittmar of Seymour was a visitor at the courthouse.

W. L. Root of Dale, and Louis Wurt of Ellington, were in Appleton on business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pride of Tomahawk, were guests of Appleton relatives.

The family of J. W. Hartman, W. H. Killen and Dr. Rust Winslow returned to the city from their cottages at Lake Winnebago.

J. B. Kertzenhofen announced he had secured a guarantee of sufficient proportions to warrant the appearance here of Eddie Foy in his musical travesty,
"Off the Earth."

The railroads entering Appleton were offering a rate of one fare for the round trip to the state fair
at Milwaukee.

David Bretschneider and Miss Nellie Kreiss were married the evening previous in the parlor of the Appleton house, the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Paville.
Dr. Samuel Bryant, president of Lawrence university, said that, judging from the registry, there would be from 75 to 100 new students, or a net increase in attendance of from 20 to 25 per cent.

G. D. Rowell invented and was manufacturing a new car mover called the Sampson which he claimed to be the best of the kind on the market.

At a meeting of the dramatic section of St. Alois-
ius society parts were assigned for the play, "Die Rauben von Maria Culm," to be presented on the occasion of the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the society, Oct. 25.

George H. Welland, 20, son of Nic Welland, died
after a prolonged illness.

Charles King and Miss Ida Stark were married at St. Johannes church by the Rev. Mr. Alberts.
A daughter was born the day previous to Mr. and Mrs. John Zeidler.

"PARTHIAN SHOT."

Parthia was a celebrated country of ancient Asia.
It was a wild and mountainous country of great extent, having 25 large cities, of which the chief and capital of the country was Hecatompylion, so named from its hundred gates. The Parthians were noted for their love of war and martial glory; they were the most noted horsemen in the world, and such excellent marksmen with the bow and arrow, that though in full flight and shooting backward, they could hit any object, their storm of arrows, discharged when flying from the field at full speed,
being fatal as those volleys poured on an advancing
foe. Hence the phrase, a Parthian arrow or shot,
a shaft or shot aimed at an adversary while flying
or pretending to fly from him; a parting shot.

Making Animal Movies

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City.—Patience and subterfuge are the chief essentials in directing animals for the movies, according to Dr. Raymond L. Dittmars, well known Curator of Reptiles of the Bronx Zoological Park here.
Violence is never necessary and therefore inex-
cusable," he says.
"You can get any effect you want by simple trick-ery."
Dr. Dittmars, in cooperation with Charles Urban, movie producer, is now filming the Fables of La Fontaine—those deligh-
ful old animal stories which subtly illustrate human frailties—using the animals of the zoo as actors. To make the fables effective, the animals must portray humor and tragedy, pleasure
and anger and various other emotions
quite as convincingly as human screen stars. And they do. How? That is what we asked Dr. Dittmars and this is what he told us:

"Suppose we want to photograph a scene which shows the elephant presiding over a meeting of the other animals," he said. "According to the scenario the elephant asks the monkey the faults he has to find with himself, and the monkey can find none. 'I can swing from high limbs,' he boasts, 'and run fast, but I feel sorry for the bear. He is big and clumsy and very slow. I'm told.' The elephant
then turns to the bear and asks him
what complaint he has to make concerning himself. The bear does not share the monkey's view. He is strong and can crush his enemies beneath his great paws and he gets a splendid rest cure every winter, but there is the poor, little fox. He feels sorry for him. The fox, however, feels sorry for one of his neighbors, and so it goes on clear around the circle of animals, illustrating the human tendency to excuse one's own faults while decrying the sins of one's neighbors."
Finally, the elephant becomes distressed. He must register great anger and contempt, turning wrathfully
from one side of the animal group to the other. We got that by placing a man the elephant liked on one side of him and another whom he hated on the other. It was as simple as that.

"We get a bear to stand up on his hind legs by placing on a roof or ledge above him (out of the camera's view of course) a man who holds an apple in his hand. Food is the great bait. You can always get a satisfactory response with it. Really a case of directing the food and letting
the animal follow his natural bent."

Movies of Frogs

"There are some animals which are too small and nimble to make good actors," continued Dr. Dittmars. "We could not use live frogs, for instance,
in one of the fables, so we had to use dead ones. Fortunately, we were able to get a large number of dead frogs
from an experimental laboratory
which had just used them in a stomach test. The purpose of the test had been to discover what kind of insects
the frogs ate, in an effort to prove whether they were or were not of value to the farmer. Well, we made our false frogs out of a plastic substance and applied the skins of the dead ones. Then we moved them with invisible wires. I had to work all day and night on those frog scenes,
because they had to be taken while the frogs were still moist. If I'd put it off until the next day, they would have been dried up and useless."

Here Dr. Dittmars was interrupted for a few moments by one of the zoo
keepers, who communicated his message in an agitated whisper. "The geese, it seems, in one of the pools
had become suddenly upstage and refused to be trapped into posing for the camera. They were not hungry,
and would not leave their afternoon
constitutional on the water for a scattering of grain."

"Let it go until morning," directed Dr. Dittmars. "Don't feed them until I get there and they will be in a conciliatory frame of mind then. Let me see, where was I?" he said, getting back to the interview.

"What sort of creature do you find the most difficult to photograph?" we asked, steering him politely.
"Insects," replied the doctor immediately, "because they are so small.

We have to trick them, too. We wanted to get some pictures of different
species of insects which sang at night.
You know that the singing is performed by special organs on the wings
like the bow of the fiddle. We wanted close-ups of that singing apparatus in action, but we had to take them under powerful mercury lights, and insects do not usually sing under such conditions. We finally got around this difficulty by placing decoys—other insects—in dark boxes near those under the lights. The latter, hearing loud songs issuing from the dark security
of the boxes, were fooled into replying,
and the camera man secured some excellent pictures."

"Some of the most interesting insect pictures we have obtained are of ants," continued Director Dittmars.
"We have a splendid close-up of an ant dragging a weight much greater than that of itself. Then we show
a close-up of a pair of scales weighing the material. The result revealed that the ant's load was about in the same proportion as a 300 pound load
carried by a 135 pound man."

"Filming an Ant War
We also have pictures of a great ant war. We secured two distant ant colonies in solid blocks of earth, being careful to capture the queens, and transferred them to the studio table.
We set the table legs in water, so they could not escape, and then ran a sash cord from one table leg to the other. This formed a bridge. That was all that was needed. In a short time, the first ant scouts were across
that bridge, sniffing each other's colonies and on the warpath."

"These tiny warriors, you know,
have an uncanny way of recognizing
their friends and of immediately identifying ants from strange colonies. A stranger thrown into a nest of ants
will be almost instantly killed."

"Wild activity started up in each of the camps. While some guarded the entrance to the underground galleries
of the nest, where their queens lived,
others started in droves across the bridge. The royal guard remained around the queen with their mandibles
or jaws wide open, ready to defend her to the last."

"The battle lasted several hours until the field was covered with wounded and one side finally triumphed.
Proudly, they carried the dismembered bodies of the vanquished back to their galleries to be stored for winter food.
The eggs of the enemy queen were also captured and removed to the victorious camp. These eggs, we believe, are allowed to hatch out and the young are kept as slaves. At any rate the eggs are not used as food,
but are taken as part of the booty
while the enemy queen is always killed. We got a charming silhouette of the last procession of victors (greatly enlarged, of course) carrying their loot across the cord bridge into camp."

"Which of the zoo animals is the most dangerous to photograph?" we asked.
"The tiger is the most treacherous," replied Dr. Dittmars, "but none of them is actually to be trusted. We sometimes wear protective apparatus. The Black Mambra (see Dr. Dittmars' book on reptiles) will spit poison in all directions when frightened, which would be most dangerous if we didn't wear
goggles to protect our eyes."

"I believe moving pictures are of the greatest possible value in teaching
the public natural history," the zoo
director concluded. "I have been producing them for years and have worked out my own photographic equipment. Among other things I have found a light English make of camera most effective. The average American moving picture camera is extremely heavy and hard to move, weighing at least 125 pounds. The one
I use weighs 13 pounds and the tripod
15."

"I have made over 120,000 feet of motion picture negative which I am arranging in much the same fashion
as if I were writing a very elaborate
book on natural history. It represents 12 years' work, and 40 per cent of the animals contained in it will never be taken again, so fast are certain species dying out."

At this point, Dr. Dittmars was interrupted by his pretty, young daughter, who rushed into the office much excited.

"Come Dad, quick," she cried. "The albino tortoise has his head out—
where's the camera?"

Confessions of a Bride

Stork On The Wing

I, Jane Lommer, came suddenly to the final chapter of my diary. A dozen strands of life lay tangled in my hand, a score of plots remained for the future to unravel. But they lost their charm for me because they concerned persons who receded from places of importance in my own career.

It sufficed for me that our Jimmy was well, that Ann had set to playing her new role of devoted wife with a genius that never she had put into the part of society butterfly.

Chris and Jordan Spence were absorbed in a splendid project. In their mutual love, as well as in their unusual happy married life.

But for Bob and for me, every other interest faded before the promise of the stork to bring an heir to the Lommer millions.

At last I could think of Katherine calmly.

Man's romances are transient," said myself to myself, "but his children are a permanent and supreme interest of his life. Vagrant heart affairs split a man's life into shreds to be tossed to the wind like the leaves of autumn. Not until a man grows old does he perceive how his emotions have led him and blinded him. But then, at last, he knows that his children are links in a chain which bind the last of his life to its beginning, which hold together the years which give it a meaning, a harmony, a unity."

I faced the future with a new sense of safety. My child would make me twice valued by Bob. Even after our love had perished—as it might do—I

the mother, would deserve Bob's honor and respect.

And I was the maker of Bob's home, the place of his peace and his rest.

"No other woman has so good a chance as the wife to hold a man's devotion," I thought. "The wife is a link in the chain which gives his life its unity."

I turned to contemplate my morning's shopping, a lovely pile of the softest sheers fabrics, and some wee silk shirts—the first size—I spread them out for Bob to see the minute he came home from the office.

For it was I, and not Ann Lommer, who was to have the honor of mothering the first of a new generation of the clan of Lommer.

It behooved me to put away trifles like the recital of gossip about my friends and relatives, to have done with petty jealousies forever, and to enter into the glory of motherhood with the dignity befitting my state.

Bob came inspected the little skirts and whispered a single word.

"Darling!" That brevity was so like him! The depth of his emotion I guessed from the very perceptible shake in his voice.

Then I turned to my desk and drew out my "Confessions."

I put my pen into my husband's hand. With my cheek against his, I watched Bob close the record of my days of doubt and discontent.

I dedicated myself to the new life as my husband wrote for me at the end of many chapters of my bewildering experience as a bride the inevitable word.

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

Sprinkle-Blow's Fears

Marty Mink telephoned to Sprinkle-Blow to please blow out the moon about 9 o'clock as he had an engagement with Mr. Blackie Bass, only, he said, so far Blackie didn't know about the engagement.

Sprinkle-Blow promised and told Nancy to go to see West Wind and tell him "He's my best cloud blow er," said Sprinkle-Blow. "And tell him not to blow up too many clouds, only a few to cover Mr. Moon for a little while."

So Nancy wished herself at Mr.

West Wind's house at once. Off she sailed on her magic Green Shoes.

Just then the telephone rang again and whom, my dears, do you suppose it was this time? No other than Cobbie Coon Cobbie said "Say Mr. Weatherman, will you do me a favor? I wish you'd muddy the waters of Ruppie Creek a little, especially around the Willow-Tree Pool. I have an engagement tonight with Blackie Bass at about 9 o'clock only so far he doesn't know about the engagement. Will you do it?"

"Sure, I shall!" promised Sprinkle-Blow hanging up, but he said to Vernelle Rohrer as Alan "A-Dale" with Ralph Dunbar's Metropolitan Production "Robin Hood" at the Appleton Theatre for one night on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Nick that he couldn't imagine why such an old stick in the mud as Blackie should suddenly become so popular. "Nick, you run off and tell South Wind to blow some of the dust from the curved road into the creek and to keep little wavelets stirred up all evening. By 9 o'clock the water ought to be pretty yellow."

After Nick had gone on his errand, something seemed to occur to the furman rather suddenly and he slapped his knees hard. "Well I'll be swished!" he exclaimed. "Do you suppose that's it? Do you suppose they're hungry?"

Pretty soon the Twins returned and Sprinkle-Blow told them his fears. Let's go down to the earth," said he, "and see what's going on."

Sandwiches For Lunch

Noon lunch for the high school girl or boy presents a little different problem than that of the lunch for a younger child.

The high school youngster has reached a finicky stage where food as a mere means to satisfy hunger doesn't appeal. The lunches should be neatly and attractively put up with due consideration of personal likes and dislikes. The food should be simple and nourishing with perhaps more meat and salad sandwiches than would go into a grade lunch basket. If a thermos bottle is carried full with bouillon or consommé oftener than with cream soups. On days when there are to be special tests of any kind, mental or physical, send hot milk in the bottle.

There's no stimulant like it for young or old.

If school lunches are planned definitely the day before, the worry of putting them up in the morning before school time is eliminated. If you are having veal for dinner plan to have a little left over and be sure there is a carrot in the house.

Veal and Carrot Filling
One half cup chopped veal, ¼ cup grated raw carrot, 2 tablespoons minced celery, ¼ teaspoon finely minced onion, mayonnaise to moisten. Mix ingredients thoroughly and put between thin slices of white bread and butter.

Banana Salad Sandwich
Whole wheat bread, banana, finely chopped peanuts, salad dressing, lemon juice.

Shred lettuce and wrap in a damp cloth and put on ice the night before. Mix lettuce with mayonnaise and put on buttered bread. Slice bananas and drop each slice in lemon juice. Put on lettuce, sprinkle with peanuts and cover with a piece of buttered bread.

Apple Celery and Nut Sandwich
One fourth cup minced apple, ¼ cup minced celery, ¼ cup finely chopped nuts, salad dressing.

Mix ingredients with enough mayonnaise to moisten and put between thin slices of white bread and butter.

NEW LONDON FIRST ON GRID SCHEDULE

High School Eleven Has Battery of Experienced Warriors This Fall.

Kaukauna—"Victim number one, New London" is the password in high school football language, and it will continue to be the password until Saturday Sept. 24, after which the high school eleven has determined the phrase will have become a historic fact. Never since Kaukauna high school was famed for its football teams in days gone by, has there been such a variety and abundance of promising material which should be and will be moulded into a team that will leave even the haughty Appleton aggregation in a dazed condition. Such is the comment of Coach William Walstrom and the boys who are on duty after day learning the signals and drilling for speed as well as team work. From 25 to 30 boys have reported every night after school. There was one short scrimmage just to break the routine of work. Most of the team can be picked from material that is experienced.

Several of the new candidates showed exceptional ability during the scrimmage Monday. One presented a front as immovable as a stone wall and he tackled like a demon; another was a bear at hitting the line and eating up the distance to the goal. Taking them all in all, the coach feels that Kaukauna is in for a place on the athletic map this season.

36 WANT BLAINE TO OPEN PRISON DOORS

Dietz Pardon Encourages Others to Seek Governor's Clemency.

Madison—Gov. John J. Blaine returned to his office Monday after a week's motor and speaking trip through the northern part of the state and today faced the two hardest days of his executive career when he is to hear nearly two score applications for pardons.

Encouraged by the pardon of John Dietz who two other governors had refused to pardon, thirty-six prisoners have filed their pleas with Gov. Blaine. Half a dozen of those applying for pardon were convicted of murder, four of them first degree murder which meant life sentence. Grace Lusk was convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced to serve 19 years, and Joe Carieux, Superior was sent up for ten years for third degree murder.

It will be a trying time for the chief executive of the state who must sit as both court and jury in the hearing of the pardon applications. His pardon of John Dietz has stamped him as a man with a heart and each of the thirty-six whose applications will be considered this week, together with their relatives and friends are confident that the executive clemency will be expended in their particular case.

It is expected the Governor will merely listen to the arguments on the applications today and tomorrow and take all the cases under advisement to give him opportunity to make a more thorough study of the individual cases before granting or denying the requests.

MAY PERMIT BOATS TO RUN UNTIL FREEZEUP

The opinion prevails quite generally among rivermen here that the government will permit boats to run this fall until the river freezes over as was done last year. The locks, however, were frozen over for the first time on Nov. 12, which was the earliest date on record for over 25 years.

The cold wave was followed by two weeks of mild weather during which boats made regular trips up the river laden with coal for various mills. Navigation usually closes about Nov. 20. Most of the coal now delivered goes to Neenah and Menasha.

OLD ORDER FIGHTS FOR EXPRESSION IN GERMAN AFFAIRS

Chancellor Wirth Heroically Leads Forces Aiming for True Republic.

BY COL. EDWARD M. HOUSE
Copyright, 1921 by Post Pub. Co.
The irreconcilable difference between the parties of progress and the parties of reaction in Germany must sooner or later be settled at the polls and the chancellor evidently is preparing to go before the people and let them decide the issues in controversy.

It will not be until after this generation of Germans has passed away that German thought will find itself in

ICE CREAM SOCIAL
Thursday evening, Sept. 15
at First English Lutheran Church, North and Drew Sts.

harmony with the thought and purposes of the Atlantic powers. When the imperial German government, under the tutelage of Bismarck and his predecessors, began to direct and to mold national opinion in a way which would cause it to approve and blindly follow the governmental policies, one of the most efficient methods used was the almost complete control of the schools and universities. A child had but little chance for mental development along independent lines. The result was a nation homogeneous in thought and purpose, and one in which the state was exalted above the fundamental principles of right and wrong. No action, however, dishonest or immoral, was wrong if done in behalf of the state.

It was a false conception as we view it but a child brought up under such a system had but little opportunity to fathom the truth. It brought about a devotion to the fatherland which transcended every other motion with the result that a great human machine was constructed bent upon the material advancement of Germany.

If this machine had been directed more carefully and more intelligently the course of western civilization might have been changed. Germany would have dominated the world or the other nations would have been forced to adopt methods akin to those Germany practiced in order to live upon anything like terms of equality with her.

The defeat of the central powers shattered this human machine but its parts are to be found in every nook and corner of the former empire and its spirit still lives. It has its advocates now as before and in the next election its forces will be marshaled with all the skill and ingenuity of other days.

The present government, headed by its able chancellor Dr. Wirth, will lead the opposing forces. It will be a battle between the old order and the new. The monarchists, the militarists and the great captains of industry will link shields and make common cause. They assert that Germany never can regain her position of influence and power save through such direction as they alone may give her. They promise a militant and an aggressive Germany rather than a peaceful and a submissive one. A virulent attack will be made upon the tax system proposed and to be proposed by the Wirth government and it may be they will hint at an agreement with Russia which today lies in the minds of many Germans.

The Wirth government can promise nothing but a continuation of the present policy which seeks to reclaim Germany in the eyes of the world. It is a policy diametrically opposed to that of the pre-war oligarchy. German defeat is admitted and the results are accepted and a serious effort is being made to meet the terms of the agreement concerning the payment of reparations. Above all, the present government is staunch in its determination to make Germany a republic in fact as well as in name.

Great Britain sees more clearly than France the importance of the success of the Wirth government, or one with like purposes and is doing what can be done in a legitimate way to sustain it. France, on the other hand, seems indifferent in the matter. Not without reason, she lacks confidence in the intentions of the Germans to live up to their obligations. And yet, France has more to gain than any other country in having Germany become a democracy. It would make less probable another war between the two countries, for such a decision would then rest with the people and not with a single man moved by hate or ambition.

ASKS U. S. TO DEFER MINE WAR INQUIRY

Mine Interests Want Murder Trials Completed Before Investigation Starts.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—West Virginia coal interests Tuesday asked for a postponement of the senate investigation on the Mingo mine war. In a telegram to members of the senate labor committee the coal operators requested that the investigation be delayed until after murder trials growing out of the mine war have been finished.

The committee will meet tomorrow to decide whether to carry out its original program which calls for hearings in Williamson, W. Va., beginning next Monday. Committee members are divided on the need and advisability of holding hearings. Senator Kenyon, chairman of the committee, who returned to Washington Tuesday, indicated that if the committee decides against a formal inquiry he and other members will make a quiet personal investigation by going among the miners in the hills.

BONUS BACKERS IN OPTIMISTIC MOOD

Special to Post-Crescent
Washington—The pendulum in Congress is swinging back in favor of a soldiers' bonus. There are two reasons:

First: Congressional elections next year.

Second: Unemployment of ex-soldiers.

The American Legion is conducting a survey of unemployment among ex-service men. It is authoritatively estimated this will show 600,000 to 700,000 out of work.

Hundreds of ex-service men believe they are jobless have enlisted under the Spanish flag and shipped to Africa to fight the Moors.

The American Legion expects to have to do extensive charity work this winter.

Congressmen fear the wrath to come next year. So a new bonus bill likely will be enacted by June. A measure being formulated is called the Service Men's Pension Act. It contemplates both a cash bonus and progressive pension.

THE STAGE

"Robin Hood" Tonight
"All the world loves a lover. All the world loves the big out-of-doors and—said beautiful Miss Elsa Thiede, the Maid Marian of Ralph Dunbar's "Robin Hood" at Appleton Theatre Wednesday night, "I fear that all the world also loves an outlaw! So perhaps its no wonder that the big theatre-going public goes on year after year loving the opera of "Robin Hood" and refusing to let any of the new compositions usurp its peculiar place in their affections. "I admit that I am a 'Robin Hood' enthusiast, and my enthusiasm is based on the supreme test for the singer of any role. I've often been asked, 'Doesn't an actress become horribly, terribly tired of a single part night after night—don't you sometimes wish to fly to some place where there is no such play, and no such songs exist?' I'll confess that this is true with the usual opera, but not with such a part as Maid Marian. In it I am simply an interested reflection of the opinion of all the all-wise public—the more times I play and sing the role, the more I love it, and I go on each night with a new enthusiasm and a new thrill!

"Such has been the De Koven genius that in 'Robin Hood', all seems as real to me as to the audience, and once I feel the thrill that comes over the footlights from their love and interest, calumns and paint vanish and become green trees, fragrant flowers, heaven sent sunlight!"

ALLEGED BURCH WAS KENNEDY ASSASSIN

Western Newspaper Publishes Lengthy Admissions—Believed to Be True.

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Calif.—Arthur C. Burch Tuesday denied in its entirety the confession he is alleged to have given Chandler Sprague, newspaper reporter, published in a three page copyrighted article by a morning paper here, in which Burch was quoted as having confessed that he killed J. Edgar Kennedy.

"Arthur Burch has practically hanged himself by his confession," declared Assistant District Attorney Aaa Keyes Tuesday when asked regarding the alleged confession. "The district attorney's office believes the confession is true" declared Keyes. "We have known it for two or three days."

Burch and Mrs. Madalynne Ober-chain are now in jail awaiting trial on the charge of having murdered Kennedy August 5.

Malcolm McLaren, special investigator for the prosecution declared he also believes the alleged confession is true.

"We are going to search the lake in West Lake park as soon as possible in an effort to find the piece of shotgun Burch said he threw there after the murder," McLaren said.

PUBLIC IS URGED TO HEED NATURE'S WARNING

Thousands of People Suffer Permanent Loss of Health Because of Neglect — Nature Has Set the Danger Signals for Us and We Cannot Afford to Pass Unnoticed the Warning That She Gives Us.

Good digestion means good health; bad digestion means bad health.

A sound stomach is worth a hundred times its weight in gold. Probably eighty per cent of all diseases originate in the digestive organs. Dyspepsia, or what is more commonly known as indigestion, is not only one of the most prevalent, but it is one of the most difficult to treat of all present day diseases, and has for years baffled the skill of leading specialists everywhere.

Stomach trouble is almost always followed by a complication of diseases. One of the first being an overworked liver, with all the symptoms of biliousness, followed in turn with headaches, coated tongue, nausea, dizzy spells, pain in the back, palpitation of the heart and other distressing symptoms. Sooner or later the kidneys will become involved and that is just why these danger signals should be heeded in time. A wise man puts out the fire before there is too much destruction; the same theory should apply to stomach trouble.

Gas in the stomach means fermentation instead of digestion; decay, instead of nutrition for fermentation produces poisons, which are absorbed by the blood, and which frequently bring on the condition known as auto-intoxication or self-poisoning. This is also why we develop acidosis, which brings on so many complications such as rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and other conditions, which may mean permanent loss of health. Acidosis is one of the main forerunners of Bright's disease and diabetes, hence it is evident that if we have stomach trouble, however slight, we are foolish indeed if we do not take prompt steps to correct it.

If we are not fit as a fiddle in the morning; if we don't feel better than when we went to bed; if our breath is offensive, and we have that bad taste in the mouth, nature has set the danger signals for us and we cannot afford to neglect the warning that she gives us. That is just why the demand for Taniae, the great Stomachic, Systemic and Reconstructive tonic has broken all World's records. The American people have learned that it probably provides the surest, safest, and quickest remedy for all such troubles, and millions upon millions have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages and in all walks of life afflicted with stomach liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use. Still others who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomachs, coated tongues, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly dejected, depressed feelings state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by Taniae.

NOTE: Taniae Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Taniae Treatment wherever constipation is present.

You cannot hope to get satisfactory results from the Taniae Treatment without first establishing a free and regular movement of bowels. It stands to reason that no treatment can do the greatest amount of good when you are suffering from constipation or biliousness, or when your system is clogged up with waste products and poisons.

Taniae is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

CLEVELAND AUTOMOBILE COMPANY, CLEVELAND, OHIO

What other light car, four or six, offers so much quality at so low a price? In performance, appearance, comfort and durability it challenges comparison with cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

The most expensive cars show no finer engineering design than is afforded by the sturdy Cleveland Six, and its perfect balance and long, low underslung spring suspension give riding comfort that is rarely found even in cars of twice its weight.

The powerful Cleveland Six motor is instantly responsive and pliant. It is off like a flash in the getaway, throttles down to a creep in traffic, and takes the long, hard pull eagerly, without strain or effort. This remarkable motor, most advanced of the overhead valve type, is built in the Cleveland Six plant and can not be had in any other car.

No car offering comparable service rivals the Cleveland in operating economy. The trim, clean-cut, graceful lines, its beautiful, lustrous finish and genuine leather upholstery, win admiration everywhere.

WOULD TRANSFER BRANDT GAME TO APPLETON SUNDAY

MENASHA PARK IS TOO SMALL TO TAKE CARE OF 2,000 FANS

No Changes Will Be Made in Appleton Lineup for Post-season Battle.

Believing that next Sunday a big crowd of Appleton fans will want to see the Brandts in action against Menasha—the team which whipped Oshkosh—and considering that the grounds at Menasha are not large enough to accommodate a crowd of 2,000, efforts are being made to transfer the game to Brandt park.

In view of the ascension of the Menasha team made when it walloped Oshkosh 5 to 2, fans and players are asking themselves what made Menasha famous. Was it the Menasha players or the Kimberly men who fought under her banner but who quieted on the pennant catcher?

Perhaps some light will be shed on the problem next Sunday afternoon. The Brandts are confident they can prove to loyal Appletonians that regardless of who won Menasha's game the trick can't be done with Appleton.

Hank Schultz and the other eight who folded the cloak of oblivion around Fond du Lac's hopefuls last Sunday, are going on a fishing trip Saturday. Schultz will arrive here from Milwaukee Friday and it is believed that a day in the open will put the Brandt machine into shape for another victory.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Harry Hooper hit two homers, a single, walked twice and scored four runs giving the White Sox a 6 to 2 win over the Yankees.

Cleveland crept within a half game of the league leading Yanks when the Indians trounced the Athletics 11 to 5. Joe Wood, taking Speaker's place, starred.

Irish Meusel's triple in the twelfth inning scored Kelly with the run that gave the Giants a 4 to 3 victory over the Reds.

Detroit knocked Sam Jones out of the box and beat the Red Sox in the first game of the series at 7 to 2.

Jim Ring outpitched Keene, a recruit, and the Phils defeated the Cubs, 4 to 2.

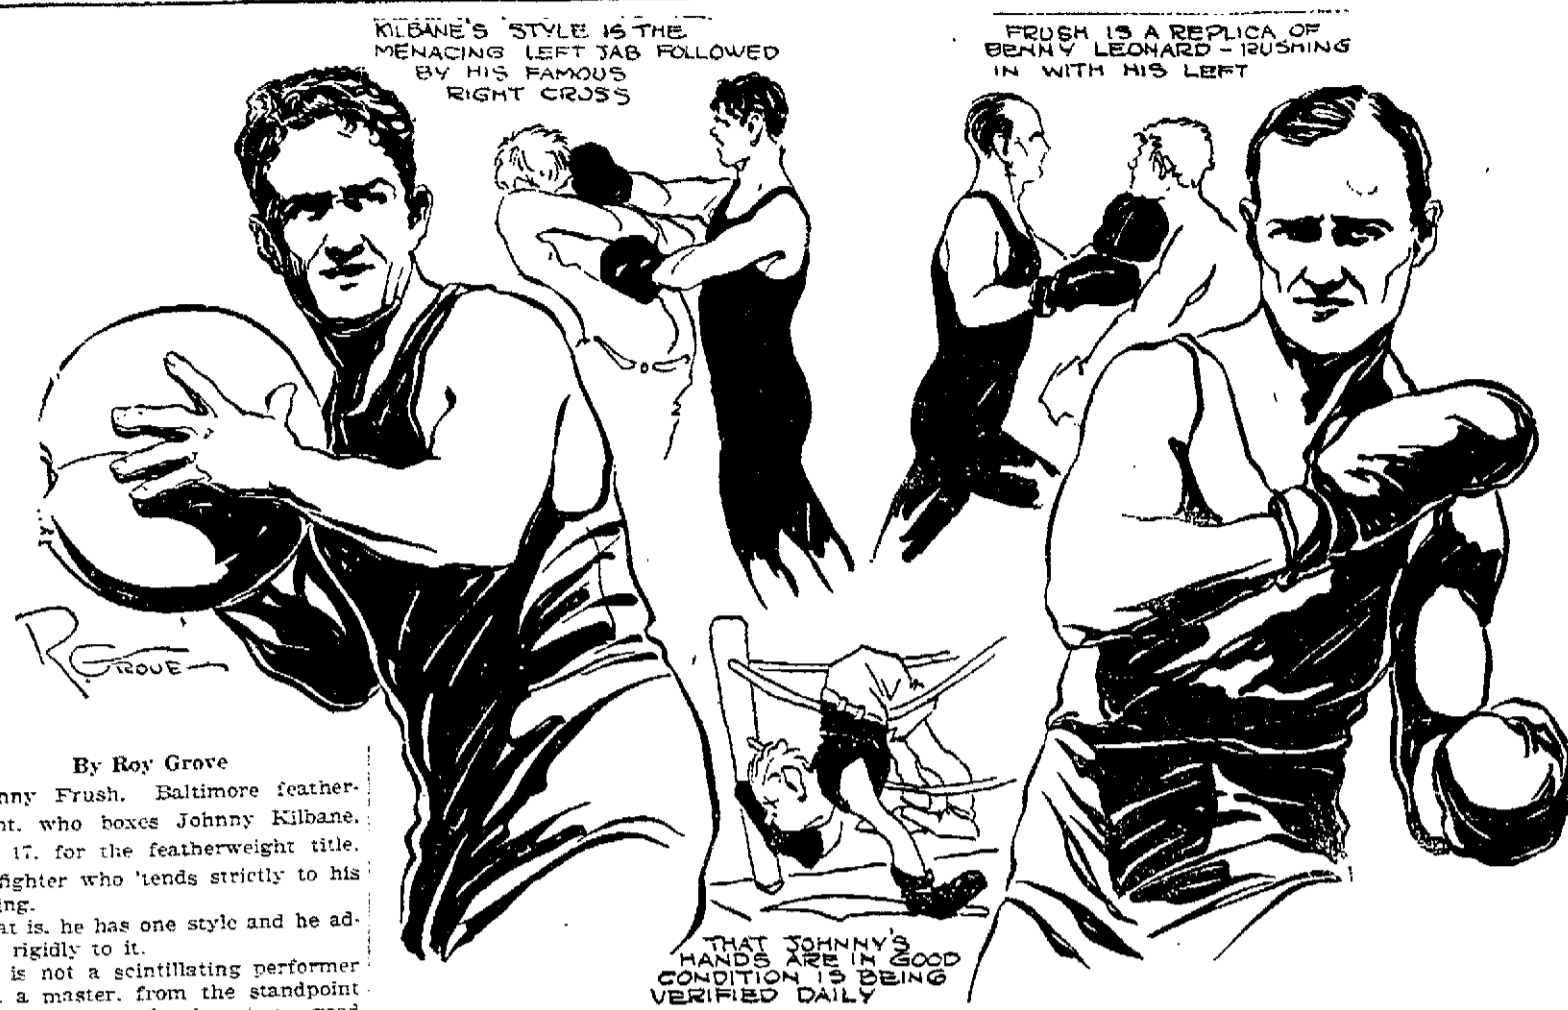

Fast fielding behind Carlson's good pitching gave the Pirates a 5 to 3 win over the Braves.

FRENCH TENNIS STAR ABANDONS U. S. PLANS

New York—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, has cancelled her exhibition tour in this country and will sail for Paris on Saturday, it was announced Wednesday.

Physicians stated she was not in physical condition to play tennis and probably would not be for 2 or 3 months.

Frush Fight Will Be Youth Vs. Experience

By Roy Grove

Danny Frush, Baltimore featherweight, who boxes Johnny Kilbane, Sept. 17, for the featherweight title, is a fighter who tends strictly to his knitting.

That is, he has one style and he adheres rigidly to it. He is not a scintillating performer—not a master, from the standpoint of trickery—but he has two good hands, two good, fast legs, and two good, sharp eyes, all of which he uses to full advantage.

Once a fight starts, Frush is on the job until the last gong, attacking continually and rarely giving ground.

Frush is "Crowder."

He is one of the crowding type of fighter. Crowding in, he makes the other fellow punch, even if he doesn't punch himself and the result is constant and continuous action.

Frush's style is almost an exact replica of Benny Leonard's. There is nothing fancy about him, but what he does he does well and thoroughly. Frush is a good hitter. He isn't a Ketchel or a Leonard, but a snappy, cutting puncher who can drop an opponent with one blow.

He has the knack of timing his blows perfectly and this makes them most effective. He has scored 18 knockouts in five years, while Kilbane's record is 22 in 15 years.

Johnny Kilbane, Featherweight Champion, Left, and Contender, Danny Frush, Right

Kilbane's Plan
Kilbane will try to beat Frush with a left hand, using straight jabs and hooks to both the head and body.

If Johnny can dizzy the contender, or place him in a position through his left leads for the famous Kilbane right cross to go shooting in, he thinks that'll be about enough. For the champ counts on that to make Frush take rank with the others of the valiant aspirants who have tried and failed.

Kilbane is much the better boxer of the two in that he has more of the "real stuff."

He is more versatile on both attack and defense; he can shift quickly and hit at the very completion of a shift. He is a better feinter than Frush, and a snappier hitter. He has the better head; in fact, he's credited with being the quickest thinker in the ring. Up to Johnny

Who will win?
The answer depends entirely on Kilbane's internal condition.

If his spark plugs are fouled, he may have trouble staying the limit. It ought to be a comparatively short fight if Kilbane is the man he used to be, for the champion will be in splendid condition upon entering the ring.

If Kilbane has lost his stamina, the bout will last longer and the further it goes the better are Frush's chances.

Frush is said to be planning to get Kilbane after the sixth round when the champion begins to tire. Kilbane, on the other hand, declares he will waste right in while the echo of the first bell is yet to be heard, and make short work of the Limehouse Knight.

It'll be youth vs. experience. But whether youth will be served when the old master still retains his cunning remains to be seen.

To Weigh Same
Frush will be called upon to weigh 126 at ringside. Kilbane doesn't have to make the weight, but he won't weigh any more than Frush.

Johnny's hands are in good shape, as a recent X-ray proved. He is not worrying about them now, and consequently, is slamming them hard in training.

He will take every chance with his dukes on the 17th, because he has sixty thousand dollars at stake and if he wins the fight, he can get good purses for boxing Andy Chaney, Sammy Sieger, Charley Peecher and Billy DeLoe.

Expectation

By Roy Grove

What about Suzanne Lenglen? Stated right off the bat to come across with the wonder stuff, after a hard sea voyage.

In a strange country, with strange people and strange ways, expected to hop upon the courts and put volley-shots all over the U. S. A.

Americans expected this little bundle of French nerves to concentrate on championship tennis.

When a raw horse is taken across the pond, it is months before he is put on the track.

If those who had charge of the matches and parings of the players were in such a hurry, why didn't they start the openers on the deck of Suzanne's liner while it was in quarantine?

Wonder who'll shoot THIS hunting season?

Phillies recall six players for next season. Wouldn't you think they'd hate it?

Curtains
The stage is being set to rid the fight game of Johnny Wilson.

Mike Gibbons and Mike McTigue are the logical property men to curtain one of the most unpopular boxers the game has ever known.

The public would welcome a fight like that—a fight in which Wilson would be knocked for a million goals.

Reading from the bottom up, leads the International League.

Indiana University plans to use movies to point out players' errors this season. If Indiana games are like most of 'em, the pictures will come under the fight-film law.

Progress
Milla Gade, 23-year-old champion woman swimmer of Denmark, has just completed a successful crawl row to the Hudson from Albany to Battery Park, New York City.

The Danish mermaid's feat marks the first time such a swim has been attempted by a woman.

She covered the distance of 143 miles, plus ten for detours, in six days, one hour and seven minutes.

Twenty-five years ago Cooper made the same swim in eleven days, and four hours.

This is more than a man's job—and a woman did it.

Did you notice the headline: "Speed Boat Races Halted by Rain?"

Lemme see, who'd you say was middleweight champ?

No so much in a name. Take the Smiths, for instance. Smith of Giants hits .333, Smith of Indians hits .310, Smith of Cards hits .215, while Smith of Dodgers hits .215, Smith of Nats hits .256 and the two Smiths with Phillies hit .218 and, would you believe it, .057.

PACKERS COP ONTO BUCK TO PUT THEIR GRID TEAM ACROSS

Scout Executive Consents to Cast His Lot With Green Bay Eleven.

Green Bay Packers will be able to break almost any defense in the football through the closing of a contract with Howard P. ("Cub") Buck, scout executive of Appleton Boy Scout council, to become a member of its team. Buck has had the matter under consideration for several weeks and finally decided to lend his ability to put the Packers to the front in the professional gridiron race this fall.

Buck has stayed in the game almost continuously since leaving the University of Wisconsin, where he captained the Badger eleven. He hasn't lost any of the ability that has carried many a game to victory; in fact, he has kept a little ahead of football progress and gives his copartners a real inside that does the winning trick. Lawrence college is to have his services on the line this fall as aide to Coach H. D. McChesney.

Last year he helped the Kaukauna American Legion gridgers to cut swaths in a lot of good lineups that battled the Electric City.

Consistent interest will be contracted by football fans on the Packers eleven, because the Green Bay firm has sifted and searched, and spent some liberal jack too, to get the best eleven available.

Howard Hancock, Oshkosh Normal coach, "Jab" Murray and Douglas, former Marquette warriors, also have been signed up. Games are to start in the near future.

STELLAR NET MEN IN FINALS TODAY

Tilden and Johnston Will Play for United States Championship.

By Henry L. Farrell
Philadelphia, Pa.—The tennis championship of the United States may be decided on the Germantown Cricket club courts this afternoon.

William T. Tilden, the international champion and Wm. M. Johnston, twice American champion, the two big outstanding figures of the tournament will meet this afternoon in a battle that should return the titleholder.

Fourteen other survivors will meet in fourth round matches that are overshadowed in interest and importance by the battle of the "Big Bill" and "Little Bill" of the victorious American Davis cup team.

Richard Norris Williams and Wallace F. Johnson, who are speeding through the upper half of the draw and who are almost sure to be semi-finalists, have easy assignments to-day.

Williams meets J. O. Anderson, the lone survivor of the Australian team and Johnson plays Howard C. Kinsey, one of the San Francisco brothers in the tournament.

Gordon Lowe, the last of the Brits who outgamed Dean Mayhey in a two hour's battle yesterday will face Stanley Pearson, Philadelphia.

Want Games
The Little Chute football team is looking for games with any team in the state. The manager would like to hear from Appleton and Menasha. Managers interested should write to Al. Langedyk, Little Chute, Wis.

FRUSH SHOVELS DIRT TO TAKE OFF EXTRA POUND

Cleveland, Ohio—Danny Frush, who meets Kilbane for the featherweight title here Saturday, laid away his gloves Wednesday and devoted himself to road work and to raking off an extra pound of weight. He will do no more boxing until he goes into the ring Saturday.

Kilbane money was beginning to appear in hunka Wednesday. Harry Marks, Detroit steel man, is said to have posted $3,000 even money on the champion and other bets of $1,000 and $2,000 were reported.

TEX MAY BE JUDGE AT FRUSH-KILBANE BOUT

Cleveland.—If Tex Rickard comes to attend the 12 round bout between Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, and Danny Frush, the Baltimore challenger here, Sept. 17, as he has said he will, he will be asked to be one of the judges. It was intimated on Tuesday members of the Cleveland boxing commission. Others under consideration are Billy Rocap, Philadelphia sporting editor, and Ed Smith and Sam Hall, sports writers on Chicago newspapers.

CLEVELAND CLIMBS UP A GAME IN YANK DEFEAT

By United Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia, Pa.—Cleveland closed in on the Yankees yesterday by a full game and are now within a half game of the American league leaders.

The Indians trimmed the Athletics while Dick Kerr gave the White Sox his sixth victory over the Yanks in seven starts.

DARKTOWN NINE IS COMING OCTOBER 2

Negotiations are now pending between the Brandts and the colored Chicago Giants for a game here either the last Sunday in September or the first Sunday in October.

Manager A. Rube Foster, of the National Association of Colored Professional Base Ball Clubs has written the Brandts his terms. It is likely that if the game is arranged it will be scheduled for Oct. 2.

Sport Views And News

Benny Kauff has started something all by his lonesome and he is going to make organized baseball show reason for keeping him off the diamond. When Kauff was in bad on an auto theft charge, he was put on the black list and has never been reinstated despite that he was cleared of the robbery indictment. Unless, there are other blotches on his record, it would seem as if the old Federal league star is getting treated rather roughly.

Joe O'Brien, long a figure in the national game has quit his job as secretary of the New York National league club. It is said that all is not harmony behind the scenes with the Giants and O'Brien ducked out while the going was good. McGraw will miss O'Brien probably more than any one else because the secretary was always first aid when the scrappy manager got into trouble, diamond or otherwise.

Bill Killefer will be at the helm of the Cubs next year. The veteran backstop who stepped into Johnny Evers worn out shoes appears to have made good in the eyes of the Chicago management and he will be given a chance in 1922 to put the Windy City National leaguers back again on the base ball map. Killefer has the brains and, if he can get the Cub machine pulling together, Chicago may show something else besides a seventh place aggregation in the Heydler wheel.

Suzanne is through so far as American tennis competition is concerned. Her competition is concerned. The French star's health has not improved and all her matches have been called off. It is reported that she will soon board a steamer headed for Gay Paree. It is unfortunate that her court invasion was crimped by the sick spell but probably another year will see her fit enough to come back again and attempt to lift the laurels.

JOHNSTON TAKES NET SERIES FROM RICHARDS

Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Pa.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco defeated Vincent Richards of Yonkers in the all comers national tennis championships Tuesday afternoon.

The Californian came from behind and after Richards had taken the first two sets, captured the match by taking three sets in a row.
